ATTEMPT TO RUN INSURGENT BLOCKADE IN SPAIN

FINNISH SHIP SENT BACK TO FRENCH WATERS

A British merchantman, believed to be the Mary Llewellyn, was sighted off Bayonne last evening heading for Spain. The Basque radio station this morning announced that the British ship reached Gijon during the night, and was escorted by three Spanish destroyers, with a cargo with which it is understood she is trying to run the Gijon blockade.—REUTER.

Santander, April 18.—The 600-ton Finnish vessel Aranda while attempting to enter the harbour was stopped by the insurgent cruiser Espana and forced to return to French waters.—REUTER.

MADRID, APRIL 18.—INTERMITTENT SHELLING OF THE CAPITAL YESTERDAY AFTERNOON PROVED TO BE VERY DEADLY. SO FAR SEVENTY PERSONS ARE KNOWN TO HAVE BEEN KILLED AND MANY INJURED.—REUTER.

London, April 17.—Up till the present there have been no definite signs that the Basque Government's offer of a bonus has induced foodships to attempt to run the blockade though several vessels are known to be only awaiting their owners' permission to make a dash.

The skipper of the Mary Llewellyn again put to sea from St. Jean de Luz this afternoon without disclosing his destination, and he has been credited with the intention of completing the journey to Santander if he could get a ship with a wireless set to accompany him.

Before leaving in the afternoon, he had a telephonic conversation with the owners and he dropped a hint about going to Bayonne for water, but the local authorities are sceptical regard this step.

St. Jean de Luz, April 18.

Meanwhile Mr. Maxton Brockway, chairman-secretary of the International Labour Party, announced that he has secured a three-day option to purchase a ship to take foodstuffs to Bilbao. He is making a public appeal to secure the necessary £240,000. Mr. Brockway expects the ship to be ready to sail on Wednesday.—REUTER.

RUMANIA IS IGNORED

Mediterranean Pact Concluded

London, Apr. 17. The Mediterranean pact between Italy, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey is the topic of the discussions between Yugoslavia and Turkey in Belgrade, according to the Pravda which declares that the previous attempt to engineer the pact failed through Titulescu insisting on the inclusion of Rumania which Italy would not accept.

Rumania is now being ignored and the "Pravda" denounces any such scheme as bilateral pact as a danger to the cause of peace. Reuter.

Last Night Of Street Singer

Splendid Performance

(BY ACWO)
Yvette of the silver voice has danced her dainty way from Street Singer to Duchess for the last time, and left us with a delightful memory of a very captivating personality, and we have said goodbye to all those cheery art students and frivolous artists models who romped through the studio. Having criticized Marie for side-tracking us from gay Pares with a White-chapel accent I should now like to present her with a bouquet, for I heard her again on the last night when she had substituted a Rue-de-la-Paix one instead, and gave a really splendid performance of the jealous little Midnette, which quite carried me away, it rang so true.

Francois and Violette continued to convulse the house with merriment at every performance. Bonni and Armande in friendly rivalry had each their partisans among the fairer sex. Some were carried away by Bonni's light-hearted view of life while others regretted Yvette did not transfer her affections to the gallant Armande.

Bertha Kent and Enid Bolt, as Mademoiselle Brian and Madame Rossignol made quite a lot of their small parts, and so did Pierre and Paul and Jacques. While Levi the picture dealer has put himself in the front rank as a character actor, and I rejoice to tell you that gay Elso Alexander frolicked her way to the last night "A Perfect Little Lady All The Time."

PEAK HOTEL PROJECT

SHAREHOLDER'S CRITICISM

(Editor, "Hong Kong Daily Press")
Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me to assure the Directors that at last Thursday's meeting, my remarks were intended as a rejoinder to the second speaker concerning his suggestion that the "Directors will find it possible at an early date to build a modern establishment on the site of the old Peak Hotel." This does not reflect the consensus of opinion of the majority of the small holders.

In these days of high cost of building, it would be inadvisable to launch out on a doubtful venture and I am of the opinion, that it would be much better if we concentrate our activities on our present holdings rather than to incur fresh loans for a new undertaking which would doubtless cater for a selective clientele. I would

Superlatively Good Dancers

Two superlatively good dancers appeared at the Hong Kong Hotel last night and gave the best show seen there since the days of Don and Sally.

They are acrobatic dancers par excellence and a dance they gave called Japanese Moonlight was so difficult, and so terribly dangerous it made the audience hold their breath in acute suspense, and almost heave a sigh of relief, when the lovely creature who was taking these risks for their amusement finally brought her spectacular turn to a triumphant conclusion!

Hainan Island Development

Canton, Apr. 18. Two years ago, Mr. Li Chuk-chuan, Chairman of the Chinese Chamber of Commerce of Mexico City, organized a trade investigation party for the purpose of investigating and studying the industrial conditions of the North East Territory of North China, with a view to raising capital for developing same.

However, since the disturbance caused by the recent Mongol-Manchu insurrection, the party has been obliged to temporarily cease its operations.

Now, with the approval of the members of the party, it has been decided to transfer the field of operations to Hainan Island.

An investigating party consisting of over ten members and experts has already left for Hainan Island, and provided their report is favourable, the capital promised will be utilized for developing the resources of the island.—Chinese Evening Press.

GAMBLING RAID

23 Women And Nine Men Caught

A raid at 10, Sai Yeung Choi Street, by Detective-Sergeant Headridge and a party of police, on Friday night, resulted in the arrest of 23 women and nine men. Before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy, three of the men, Lo Sung, 32, fook, Leung Fong, also a fook, Chan Fuk, unemployed, and Pun Hung, 40, widow, were charged with being keepers of a common gaming house, while the remainder were charged with gambling.

Mr. G. S. Ford pleaded guilty on behalf of Pun Hung, while the other three accused of being keepers denied the charge. The remainder, three of whom were absent and forfeited bonds of $5 each, were each fined $4.

Det-Sergt. Headridge remarked that it was a large gaming school and that several of the accused who had pleaded guilty to gambling had been caught in previous raids.

The case will be heard on Friday at 2.30 p.m.

COURT NEWS IN BRIEF

Lai Ching, 24, years, of 263, Wanchai Road, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday for maliciously damaging silk belonging to Chan Mui, 16, of 8, Canal Street Wanchai, by throwing copying ink over the article. Defendant said that he was hired to do so by the complainant's sister's former lover, in revenge of her getting married to some other person. His Worship imposed a fine of $25 or one month's hard labour, and ordered him to pay $2.50 amends to the complainant or serve another week's hard labour.

Lok Yung, 24, was charged before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday for the larceny of a gold wrist watch and chain, and a leather wallet containing $7.60, from Joseph Sling Mow, Superintendent of the Boys' Club in Bonham Road. Defendant said that he would be able to refund $49 to the complainant within 48 hours. His Worship granted his request. The watch was not recovered and the money had been spent by the accused.

Lau Pui, 43, unlicensed locksmith, appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday for being in possession of implements fit for an unlawful purpose. The complainant was Miss Mae Murray of 3, Dragon Terrace. His Worship fined the defendant $100 or two months' hard labour.

Tse Tak, marine store dealer, appeared before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday for receiving a stolen rickshaw which was sold to him by a man not in custody. The police asked His Worship to take a serious view of the case as this type of theft was prevalent in the Colony. His Worship imposed a fine of $50 and the parts of the rickshaw which he bought to be refunded to the complainant.

For the larceny of 17 pieces of show case wood Wong Wan, 32, appeared Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on a Saturday, fined $25 or one month's hard labour, for breaking a previous bond His Worship sentenced him to serve an additional month's hard labour.

Lau King-yin, aged 20, unemployed, was charged before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday for the theft of a woolen blanket from the premises of the Basel Mission, Tai-po Road.

Mr. A. Ritz of the Mission from whom the blanket was stolen asked his Worship to take a lenient view of the case, saying that defendant had the misfortune of being dismissed by a contractor when he had accidentally dropped a basket of sand and hurt a boy while the Mission was under repairs.

Inspector Chester Woods opposed the appeal, saying that defendant should be severely dealt with under the circumstances.

His Worship remarked that he could not accept Ritz's plea even though Lau had been unemployed as a result of an accident. He sentenced defendant to three weeks' imprisonment with the option of a fine of $5.

BANKRUPTCY COURT

Choa Po Sien Questioned By Mr. F.H. Loseby

"BOOKS ARE DESTROYED BUT CHOA REMAINS"

The public examination of Choa Po-sien, former comrade of the French Bank, was continued at the Bankruptcy Court on Saturday morning before the Chief Justice, Sir Atholl MacGregor.

Mr. F. H. Loseby, of Messrs. Russ and Company, who appeared on behalf of Miss Ethel Morrison, the petitioning creditor, questioned Choa Po-sien.

When reminded by Mr. Loseby that when the Court adjourned a fortnight ago he was promised to look for papers, Choa Po-sien said that he found the copy of the agreement with the bank and two books dealing with clients during the whole time of his comradeship.

When cross-examined by Mr. Loseby, Choa Po-sien said:—When my son became comrade, the books were carried on as if there had been no change.

Asked whether he had been occupying his house at a rental of $500 per month ever since it was bought from Mr. Brown, he said that he did not know as his son paid it. He added that besides his son, his three daughters were also earning money, but he did not know how much they earned between them.

Questioned concerning the number of servants he maintained, he said there were formerly five. When told that he kept three cars, he said that they were not his, but his family.

TRIP TO MANILA

Asked why his family went to Manila at the time of the Eucharistic Congress when fares were expensive, he said that his son and three daughters went, but that he had no idea of the fares.

Mr. Loseby: Things were just the same at your bankruptcy as it was before, with the exception of one change, all the papers had gone?—I did not find the papers you wanted. I never kept papers I did not want.

Do you remember you were on oath when you promised to bring all your papers to the Official Receiver?—It must have been a misunderstanding on my part.

After further questions, witness said that the inventory on the bill of sale was made up by W. K. Choy.

Mr. Loseby: Why did you give the Official Receiver no other papers than your resignation as comrade of the bank?—I gave the Official Receiver every document that I thought that he should have. The other papers relating to the Bank had been lost at the closure of my business. At the beginning of 1936 both banks were closed. I had no business dealings after that. I have not got an office of my own.

THE OFFICE

Mr. Loseby: You went to a different office.—The office was not my own.

When asked whether he had an office or not, he explained that there were three rooms, one of which he occupied. He had a telephone. He denied that he had a clerk or secretary.

Mr. Loseby: The bank closes, books are destroyed, but Choa remains; everything is still the same, isn't that so, Mr. Choa?

Witness made no reply.

After further questions, he said that the Chung Wah Hong was Mr. K. Y. Pun's private business, and that Mr. K. Y. Pun was his partner. The Kwai Yuen Ying Kee, also known as the Kwan Yuen Bank was one of the firms in which he had an interest.

Mr. Loseby: You were in the office all the time?—Practically.

Mok Mui, aged 28, was stopped and questioned by a detective, and admitted that the bars were parts of the railings surrounding the nullah in King's Park. Defendant was fined $20 or five weeks' imprisonment by Mr. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday.

On a charge of stealing 383 lbs. of brass and iron from the s.s. Talithyus, Lam Kasp, 24, cook aboard the Blue Funnel steam launch "Ares," and Chan Wing, 29, charged with receiving, were remanded for 48 hours when they appeared before Mr. K.M.A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning. Detective-Sergt. Hutchinson appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. F. C. L. Wong, of Holt's Wharf was the complainant.

PAPERS REMOVED TO CANTON

Asked whether he gave permission to have the papers removed, he replied in the affirmative and added that they were removed to Canton for the purpose of collecting money due, as most of the clients were there, but said that he could not get them back as he had never heard from the man who took them up.

Mr. Loseby: You did not mention this in your statement of affairs. You invested a substantial part of Miss Morrison's money in that bank. Is that true?—It is true.

Was it a sound investment?—It was doing well.

MISS MORRISON'S SHARES

Mr. Loseby: Do you remember you said that you borrowed the shares from Miss Morrison in 1933, when you were $50,000 in default to the Gold Bar exchange?—I don't remember saying that.

Do you remember you said that in order to meet your liability you suggested to Miss Morrison to lend you her shares?—I do not remember.

Do you think you could have said it?—I don't.

Could it have been true?—It could not have, as I did not owe $50,000 when I borrowed the shares.

He also denied that he said that he had $15,000 to meet the debt of $50,000.

He said that he had known Mr. Lal, one of the petitioning creditors, for a long time, but denied that he asked Mr. Lal to start the petition.

At this stage the hearing was adjourned to the next Bankruptcy Session.

EUROPEAN CHARGED

Sequel To Traffic
Fatality

POLICE EVIDENCE

The second hearing of the case in which Peter W. Grant Cameron is charged with driving a private car in a dangerous manner and having inefficient brakes came before Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy on Saturday morning.

Sergeant Cameron, giving evidence, said that on April 13 at 9.20 a.m. he was driving his car along Queen's Road Central from east to west between a speed of 18 to 20 miles per hour when the defendant passed him at the Grand Theatre at a high speed which he estimated was between 25 and 30 miles per hour.

"After the accused had gone 75 yards ahead of me I saw a Chinese walk across the road from North to South, and I saw the defendant swerve to the left and also saw the Chinese being struck by the front of the car, and then the car glanced off a pillar," said witness. "I then drew up and before I could get out of my car Sergeant Riddell was beside the injured man. I then got out and measured the distance from where the man was lying to where accused's car had stopped, and pacing the distance I estimated it to be about 87 yards. The car was driven by the defendant. The man he knocked down had been thrown about seven or eight feet into the air, which a little higher than the top of the car."

On being cross-examined by Mr. J. T. Prior, for the defence, the witness said it was reasonable for a car to pass another car which was travelling at a lower speed by accelerating and then after having passed to slow down. Had defendant swerved to the right instead of the left he would, in witness's opinion, have missed knocking down the deceased. On being re-examined by Traffic Sub-Inspector Saunders the witness said defendant did not seem to slow down after he had passed witness but continued to gain distance, ahead of him.

At this stage the hearing was adjourned till April 27 at 2.30 p.m.

THE MILWAUKEE ROAD

OUR SWATOW LETTER

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Swatow, Apr. 13.
That the Mayor of Swatow—Mr. Wong Peng Fan—is a just and reasonable man, can be gauged by the decision he has just given to a petition by the teachers of the seven government primary schools for better salary emoluments.

All the teachers of these schools were formerly paid in subsidiary coin notes, and 10 per cent was deducted as contribution towards the Aeroplane Fund.

Even without deduction of any sort the salaries were never a feature of attraction, and what little was earned was not sufficient to make both ends meet, especially as these notes are worth 80 cents to a big dollar on the average.

Consequently, the teachers got together and a representative was appointed to interview the Mayor. The question was discussed at length and the Mayor readily appreciated the exigencies of the case and acceded to the proposal to pay in full the salaries of these teachers commencing from the first scholastic term of 1937.

The Business Capital Tax Bureau controversy, which has been shelved for a few months, with the merchants putting up a strong resistance, has assumed rather serious dimensions. A new set of regulations has been promulgated, but these have met with the refusal and resentment of the various classes of merchants whose cause was taken up by the Chamber of Commerce and affiliated guilds.

Previously the payment of the business tax was a simple procedure, the merchants only paying a certain fixed amount on the capital of the trade registered with the bureau. However, the new regulations are entirely different in nature, as the traders are called upon to pay a tax "each time" a business transaction is concluded, and for which purpose a scale of payment has been prepared. Besides the tax itself being considerably higher, it was believed and argued that much time would be lost if every time a deal was transacted it had to be reported to the bureau for payment of the tax.

The chief of the bureau has now left for Canton to confer with the Provincial Government on this important matter. It is hoped that fruitful results will be achieved in this connection.

At the moment much attention is being centered at the Kwongtung Province Sports Meet due to take place in Canton on May 1st. Swatow city is sending a contingent of thirty participants for the various contests. All the preliminary arrangements are practically complete and are in the able hands of the Swatow Athletic Association, whose prominent leader is L. Kai-ming, who, incidentally, will captain the soccer eleven which is pretty strong with Police Inspectors Leung Yuk-long, Lee Chiu and Tang Ming-on in the team. At any rate the defence requires some "breaking." Swatow is very optimistic—and justifiably so—in tennis, and well-known exponents like the Lee Bros. (Lee Hua-kek and Lee Hua-san) should uphold their prestige and offer stiff opposition. The tennis glory in my firm opinion is as good as won. For the team race we have four youngsters whose timing now has more than justified their selection.

As a result of negotiations between the Food Enquiry Commission (of Canton) and Nanking the Customs have allowed the importation of 2,000,000 piculs of foreign rice into Kwangtung free of duty.

The quota is as follows: Four-tenths for Canton, six-tenths for out-stations. Swatow is allowed three-tenths and Kiangchow one-tenth. In spite of the concession the public complain they do not enjoy any benefit because the cost of rice still remains exorbitant, so something must be wrong somewhere. A short time ago, the s.s. "Hellas" and s.s. "Kiangsu" brought in 7,000 odd bags of rice from Bangkok, but, owing to the absence of a certificate from the Food Enquiry Commission, the rice was released by the Customs upon payment of a deposit for duty. The ruling is that all foreign rice imported under this privilege must be accompanied by a certificate from the F.I.C. to prevent malpractice, because the concession was obtained as a relief measure and not for the purpose of profiteering by importers.

The poorer classes of the people are now buying rice from the Charitable Guild, a well organized philanthropic body. They can purchase 11.10 cts per dollar

SIR ERIC PHIPPS FOR PARIS

Berlin, April 17.
The transfer of the British Ambassador, Sir Eric Phipps, to Paris, has prompted a general review of his tenor of office in Berlin by the German newspapers.

The "Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung," in a leader surveying his record, says that Sir Eric took over the Berlin Embassy in 1933 in a particularly critical period.

The extensive knowledge of Continental affairs which Sir Eric had acquired during his diplomatic career, stood him in good stead during his period in Berlin.

After enumerating the important events which occurred during his period of office in the German capital, the paper expresses the hope that Sir Eric's understanding of Germany's desire that her relations with other Powers be based on the principle of full equality of rights, may help him to contribute to the cause of European peace.—Transocean News Service.

against 8.5 cts in the shops. More than 300 bags are sold daily, and with the stocks running short an order for 1000 bags has already been placed.

News from Fung Sun and surrounding districts indicate new roads being opened up. Many other improvements are reported also. But from Mui-ying and Teng Hai we have the distressing reports of many bus accidents. There have always been passengers carried in excess to the common danger.

Yesterday afternoon the aeroplane for Canton from Shanghai via Swatow had to put back to port on account of the heavy rain. There were seven passengers on board. After fueling she left at 1 p.m. but returned to the anchorage an hour later. She hopped off at 2 p.m. to-day.

WORLD SITUATION EXAMINED

Premier's Survey Broadcast

London, Apr. 17. The many acute international problems confronting the world to-day were discussed at length in addresses last night by the Premier, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, the Home Secretary, Sir John Simon, and the First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Samuel Hoare. The constitution and the tasks of the British Empire were the subject of Mr. Baldwin's address, which was broadcast. The Premier expressed gratification that the British Empire had stood firm during the last ten turbulent years. The links connecting the various States composing the Empire, he said, had not been loosened. "The British Empire's foremost task to-day is to take the lead in spiritual matters, since no other country or group of countries in the world is so eminently fitted for leadership in this respect," he stated. GENERAL SURVEY The general foreign political situation, particularly the Spanish problem, was critically examined by the Home Secretary, Sir John Simon, in an address at Southampton. The Home Secretary expressed gratification that the London non-intervention committee had now fixed the date when inter-

CONTROL PLAN IN SPAIN

General Co-Operation

Berlin, April 17. "An example of practical European co-operation outside the League of Nations," is the enthusiastic reception given by the "Diplomatische Politische Korrespondenz" to the decision of the non-intervention committee to bring the Spanish control plan into force on Monday. "In spite of the many and varied difficulties," says the journal, "definite results have been obtained." A note of criticism of the plan, however, is mingled with the paper's eulogy of the committee's determination. PLAN INADEQUATE The journal thinks that, in its present form, the plan is not entirely adequate, control of the Spanish land frontiers being especially inadequate. The number of inspectors on the Franco-Spanish frontier should be increased, while the problem of preventing foreigners entering Spain with false passes has not been solved. The journal, which usually expresses the official viewpoint, reiterates Germany's intention to stand by her commitments under the plan.—Transocean News Service.

ITALY WANTS PACT WITH RUMANIA

Rome, April 17. Following signing of the pact with Yugoslavia, Italy is now anxious to conclude a similar treaty of amity with Rumania. So states a semi-official announcement, which adds that such an agreement would mean that the ultimate aim of appeasement in the Mediterranean and Danube basin, would be reached. An understanding between Italy and Rumania, however, would have to be preceded by relaxation of the tension between Rumania and Hungary, owing to the alleged ill-treatment accorded by the Rumanian Government to the Hungarian minority.—Transocean News Service.

"MOST HATED MAN"

Palestine Official Shot Dead

London, Apr. 17. The "most hated man" in Palestine, on whose life several attempts have been made, has finally fallen to the assassin's bullet. He is Halim Basta, either an Arab or Egyptian, who was shot dead in the street yesterday as he was on his way from his home to the central police station in Haifa. Halim Basta was deputy police chief of Haifa and was considered by the Arabians section of the population as a ruthless opponent of Arab demands and aspirations. According to a report from Jerusalem, he was shot by three members of the secret Arab militant organisation, all of whom made their escape. The body was riddled with nine bullets, and the British authorities have offered a large reward for the killers. A child who was standing beside the dead policeman was seriously wounded.—Transocean News Service.

New Deal Programme Unconstitutional

Boston, April 16. The New Deal's social security programme, old age and unemployment insurance, have been ruled unconstitutional by a majority decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Without deciding the question whether or not the Federal Government was empowered to make benefit payments to unemployed and aged, the court decided that taxes on payrolls whereby the whole programme was financed, were unconstitutional. Arguments in a similar case were recently heard by the Supreme Court, but no finding has been handed down.—Neuter.

GOLD DIGGERS OF 1937

"Gold Diggers of 1937"—fourth and most elaborate of the famed series of musical movies which began in 1929 with "Gold Diggers of Broadway" and carried on with "Gold Diggers of 1933" and "1935"—has been booked by the Majestic Theatre, and will have its first local showing to-day.

This 1937-edition co-stars Dick Powell and Joan Blondell. It features Victor Moore, Lee Dixon, a sensational new dancer, Glenda Farrell, Osgood Perkins, Donald Meek, Rosalind Marquis, Irene Ware and other fun-makers, plus 200 dancing beauties trained by Busby Berkeley.

The most elaborate set, upon which the entire company appears in several scenes, represents the Long Island estate of a New York theatrical producer—played by Victor Moore of "Of These I Sing" fame.

RACING LADY

A drama of the turf with Southern California's famous Santa Anita as the setting, provides a thrilling hour of entertainment for those who appreciate an exciting story and warm romance.

"Racing Lady" which is showing at the Alhambra Theatre to-day. The story is from a novel by Damon Runyon who has contributed many hits to the screen in the last few years, and a story by J. Robert Bren and Norman Houston. It has Smith Ballew and Ann Dvorak for the featured leads.

Ballew, as a wealthy automobile manufacturer, uses his string of thoroughbred horses and his girl trainer, Ann Dvorak, solely as a publicity aide to his business. However, an interesting slant on turf sportsmanship is given audiences when, after Ballew has won Miss Dvorak over to his philosophy, that winning a race is the only thing worth while, her innate principles of fair play which Harry Carey, her father, has instilled in her from childhood, bring about rebellion and the climax of the picture.

It was bright, it was amusing, it was completely different from anything seen here before. It had a leading lady with a voice like an angel and the charm of a London chorus girl (and that is some compliment, believe me) and what is more every newspaper in the Colony praised the show. In spite of this more than half the Colony did not trouble to go. Nothing can be done about such apathy. It is Hong Kong all over.

WHEN'S YOUR BIRTHDAY

The infinite talent of Joe E. Brown was never better exemplified than in "When's Your Birthday?" David L. Loew production which has its run at the Queen's Theatre to-day. As a comedian of his type, we think there is no one who approaches him in easy versatility, nor any whose fleshing expressions are quite so funny to behold.

This hilarious picture has the completely novel background of astrology. The subject is ideally suited to comedy treatment.

After a series of lessons intended to fit him for a career as an astrologer, Brown is seen as a particularly clumsy bus boy in a cafe where he has the good fortune, by counting the planets, to predict for a gambler the outcome of a race. Frightened, however, he drops from sight to work in a fortune-telling concession.

THREE ONE-ACT PLAYS

On Wednesday and Thursday, the dramatic section of St. Andrew's Club is producing three one act plays at St. Andrew's Church Hall, Kowloon.

The pieces chosen are Sir Arthur Pinero's "The Playboys," a domestic episode, "Lot 13" by Laurence Housman, and "Five Birds in a Cage" by Gertrude E. Jennings, comedy pure and simply.

Part of the proceeds are to be given to charity, and tickets cost $1.00. The time of commencement is 9 p.m. on each night.

THE DEVIL DOLL

Picturesque Lionel Barrymore brings his infallible artistry to the King's Theatre in new guise, serving incomparably in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Devil Doll."

In this story of a half-mad scientist who evolves a scheme that threatens all humanity, that first appeared as a novel which A. Merritt titled "Burn, Witch, Burn," the distinguished Barrymore is a paradox of kindly scientist and fiendish villainy. Frank Lawton, playing the romantic lead opposite Maureen

Now in its fifth and best edition, "Gold Diggers of 1937" comes to the Majestic Theatre to-day, with Dick Powell and Joan Blondell heading an all star cast which includes Victor Moore, Glenda Farrell, Osgood Perkins, Lee Dixon and a score of Hollywood favourites in addition to 200 beautiful dancing girls.

There was a large audience on Saturday and H.E. the Officer Administering the Government with Mrs. N. L. Smith and Miss Smith brought a party which included H.E. the G.O.C. Major General Bartholomew and Mrs. Bartholomew, Mr. and Mrs. David Strellet and several others. During the interval His Excellency went round to the green-room to compliment the performers and the producer, Rev. C. J. Cyril Brown, and Mr. Lindsay Lafford.

After the show was over bouquets and baskets of flowers and souvenirs of all descriptions were handed up to the performers who thoroughly deserved every one of them.

It was bright, it was amusing, it was completely different from anything seen here before. It had a leading lady with a voice like an angel and the charm of a London chorus girl (and that is some compliment, believe me) and what is more every newspaper in the Colony praised the show. In spite of this more than half the Colony did not trouble to go. Nothing can be done about such apathy. It is Hong Kong all over.

It is a marvel that our clever local amateurs still take the trouble to try to amuse us. One of these days they will lose interest, and stop doing so, and that will be a very very great pity.

Szita And Anis

When seeing a very beautiful girl, clad in the minimum of silver spangles, with a figure like a Greek Goddess, and a gay young face that laughs at danger, one is apt to forget her partner, and the fact that it is on his skill and accuracy that her life depends! The mistake of just one inch as he whirls her round among those crowding tables the quivering of those iron muscles that ripple so smoothly under his satin costume, and she is dashed to a death so terrible one cannot bear to contemplate it.

Szita and Anis do all this with a smile, and seem to positively enjoy it!

Later on to the tune of Valse-Blue they gave a comic turn which is absolutely the funniest thing ever seen here. Their huge audience was helpless with mirth, but recovered sufficiently to cheer them to the echo, and demand an encore called The Adagio Dancers Nightmare... which was (if possible) funnier still.

Szita and Anis are definitely a success!

It is notified that at the expiration of three months, the names of the Fook Mun Investment Co., Ltd., and the Po Shing Co., Ltd., will, unless cause is shown to the contrary, be struck off the register and the companies will be dissolved.

O'Sullivan, combines with her to weave an adventurous love element in the strange story of a human revenge that is made more terrible by its affiliation with the secrets of science.

COAL STRIKES IN BRITAIN

General Vote Taken

London, April 18.
A vote has just been taken of all the coalfields of Great Britain on the question of strike action in connection with coal disputes which have been in progress for some time in Nottinghamshire. Whatever the result may be, comment in the press indicates the danger of a national strike is considered remote.

Two points are involved, according to an account of the matter which the Secretary of Mines gave the House of Commons on Tuesday, though both arise out of the presence, since 1926, of two rival unions in the area—one autonomous and the other affiliated to the Mine-workers Federation of Great Britain.

After the strike of last November at Harworth Colliery the owners wished to make the membership of the autonomous union a condition of re-employment. The condition was later withdrawn, but the question of victimisation of men involved in the Harworth strike remains in dispute. In the meantime, through the good offices of the Mines Department, leaders of the two unions negotiated a basis of amalgamation, but the Mineworkers' Federation executive later declined to proceed with the amalgamation scheme, pending settlement of the victimisation question and decided to take a ballot of the whole country on the question of enforcing the principle of freedom of organisation, which they claim is challenged by the refusal of the company to recognise a union affiliated to the federation.

The company, on the other hand, which recognises the autonomous union, is prepared to negotiate on the questions at issue if and when the amalgamation scheme is carried through.

The Mines Secretary told the House of Commons he was doing all in his power to find a solution of the problem. The questions are so near to settlement and a general coal strike in the near future is felt by the public to be so out of proportion in its effects to the issues left unsettled, that a widespread belief in a peaceful outcome prevails.

G.M.C. STRIKE SETTLED

Company Gains Its Point

Oshawa, Apr. 18.

The strike in the General Motors Corporation plant at Oshawa, which had threatened to involve the provincial government of Ontario in a grim struggle with labour, dictated to by American union "bosses," has now been settled.

Mr. Homer Martin, President of the United Automobile Workers, announced that an understanding had been reached at Detroit yesterday concerning the Oshawa strike, the terms of which would be submitted to a mass meeting of strikers to-night for ratification. It is understood the men will return to work Monday.

After the men have returned to work, negotiations will begin between the Canadian General Motors Corporation and workers' committees from all the company's factories in Canada, for a complete settlement on all points.

Although these committees apparently will be composed of members of the U.A.W., the company seemed to have gained its point that it would not sign an agreement with U.A.W. officials but only with employees.—Reuter.

WAZIRISTAN UNREST

British Convoy Attacked

London, Apr. 17.

Unruly tribesmen on the North-West Frontier of India yesterday ambushed another British convoy. Two of the attackers were killed.

Military telephone wires are also reported to have been cut by the tribesmen.

The "Daily Telegraph" says that the British authorities "consider the situation in Waziristan to be very grave."

"These Indian tribes, who are probably the toughest warriors in the whole world are able to call on 500,000 fighting men," the paper says.

"The present outbreak may require a generation of political endeavour to achieve the task of conciliating the tribes."

The paper also publishes an Exchange Telegraph message from Calcutta, quoting the Attorney-General who is conducting the prosecution of twelve Indian Communists charged with high treason.

The Attorney-General said that the men had been in regular receipt of funds from the Comintern in Moscow, who had primed the men with revolutionary propaganda.—Transocean News Service.

APPREHENSION OF UNRESTRICTED NAVAL PROGRAMME

London, Apr. 18.

Grave apprehension of the possibility of an unrestricted competition in naval building and unlimited designs in tonnage and striking power, was expressed by Sir Samuel Hoare, First Lord of the Admiralty, at a dinner in London to-night.

Britain, he said, would welcome the opportunity of ratifying the London Treaty, and only delayed doing so because the Government felt it was necessary first to ensure the accession of a sufficient number of naval powers.

There was no reason Great Britain and Japan should not resume the relations that were so satisfactory a feature of former years, he said. He was supported in this hope by the encouraging fact that the unfortunate incident at Keelung, which had recently clouded the atmosphere between Britain and Japan, was now satisfactorily settled. Sir John concluded.—Reuter.

ANTI-NAZI PROCLAMATION BY SOUTH AFRICA

Capetown, Apr. 18.

The South African Government's anti-Nazi proclamation concerning alleged subversive activities on the part of the German population in South-west Africa and giving the Governor there power to banish offenders, without any right of appeal, was not induced by an antagonistic motive towards the Reich, declares General J. B. Hertzog, replying to a German note of protest.

The note, delivered on April 6, calls the proclamation "a combative measure."

South Africa, said General Hertzog to-day, is guided by the imperative need to promote proper administration and ordered development in her territory. The measure was directed against practices which precluded conciliation among the various sections of the population, and which operate against the interests of Germans as well as other inhabitants.

The proclamation, continued General Hertzog, was issued in pursuance of South Africa's intention to carry out a trust imposed by the mandate given her by the League of Nations, and applies to all non-British subjects, without discrimination against Germans.

The Union Government trusts, he concludes, that German nationalists will give no occasion for the application of the provisions of the proclamation to them, and he would welcome the co-operation of the German Government in that regard.—Reuter.

RECALL TO RELIGION

Appeal Of Coronation To Empire Colonies

REV. H.W. BAINES'S SERMON

Preaching in St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning, the Rev. H. W. Baines said that the Bishop of the Diocese had been quick to see and seize the importance of the Archbishop of Canterbury's recall to religion. Nowhere, said the preacher, does the Coronation make a more penetrating appeal than in the distant Colonies of the Empire. The preacher said:—

Everybody knows that there is a Recall to Religion. The message which the Archbishop of Canterbury spoke to the English people has been greatly increased in strength by the whole-hearted co-operation of the Free Churches, and has been made public over a very wide area through the interest and help of the Press. The Archbishop himself has done everything in his power to bring the message home as widely as possible.

QUICK RESPONSE

In this Diocese our Bishop has been quick to see and seize the importance of the Archbishop's Recall. Nowhere does the Coronation make a more penetrating appeal than in the distant Colonies of the Empire. He has realised, as has the Archbishop, that the ingrained practical common sense of the British people revolts against the religious solemnity and depth of the Coronation Service unless they are roused and completed in the Dedication of the British peoples with their Sovereigns to the same public service, in the same Christian spirit and on the same one foundation.

Our leaders then have done all in their power to bring home the Recall to us and hitherto the response has been quick and eager among responsible people. It remains for us, of rank and file, to align ourselves with all dispatch and all humility with the lead that we have received from these simple and powerful Christians—we have got to get down to brass tacks.

NOTHING NOVEL

You will remember first that this is a Recall and not a call to something novel. We are called to revive our religion and faith. Not to fashion new gods but to return to the Living God. So you will understand how little room there is for stunts and shows in the Recall to Religion for we are not advertising new goods. The appeal to us is not for frills or frothy speeches but for faithfulness.

LIFELESSNESS OF WORSHIP

Secondly, no doubt the world will say to the Archbishop and to all Christian institutions "Practice what you preach." It is right that the Church should listen to such a reminder and take itself to task. The Archbishop himself speaking to the Members of Parliament said that the lifelessness of much public worship has helped to keep potential worshippers away. I hope that all of us here who share in public worship will ask ourselves these questions and as we do so have in our mind's eye the man or woman whom our previous carelessness or slovenliness or self-consciousness had put off coming to God.

GEORGE WRITES HOUSE

This morning our name is George. George was well brought up with a secondary school education including religious teaching but without any strong bias in that direction. Now George is 26, at the beginning of his second tour in the Far East in the employment of a Business House. After his exercise in the evening he will go either to the most interesting 'picture' in town or else to the book which follows the line along which he is thinking at the time; except on Thursdays when he will be writing home and telling his fiancée all about it.

WHAT DOES IT ALL MEAN?

He goes on to describe in the letter how he had met one of the local padres to whom he said as they watched a tennis match "what is this Recall to Religion all about? It doesn't seem possible to me to do very much." The padre, taken off his guard, was just able to recognise an invitation and when the game was over they walked round the ground to get to close quarters on the subject. George began to question. "Does it mean that we are to become serious and go to church? Are we to give up going to the pictures or to the 'Grippe' or Fanning for the weekend?" The padre answered, "What it may mean in your case is for you to discover but what the Archbishop actually said was this:— 'It is a summons to refound our life, personal and national, on the will of God, on the revelation of His will and purpose for the human race in Jesus Christ, and on the standard of human conduct which Jesus Christ has set.'"

PRACTICAL MEETING

So they struggled to find a practical meaning to this Recall and finally George said:— "I see what you mean" said George, "and for once you have been reasonably clear but that does not make it any easier to do what the Archbishop suggests."

THE ANSWERS

As George made his way home after they had said goodnight, he reflected that both of them were confronted with the same job in answering the Recall, the job of founding their lives again on God and Jesus, His demonstration. He also remembered not unpleasantly that the questions he had put at the beginning about weekends and being serious, Church, Holy Communion and the Bible were still unanswered. He, like the padre, had to find out the answers by consulting not his own prejudice or convenience but the Voice of the Living God recalling him.

WEDDING CEREMONIES

Mass Marriage At Chinese Y.M.C.A.

The Rosary Church, Kowloon, was crowded on Saturday morning for the wedding of Mr. S. E. Souza (of the "Nederlandsch Indische Handelsbank N.V.") to Miss Caroline da Silva, daughter of Mr. Francisco da Silva, of Manilla.

This ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Rossi, the best man was Mr. A. R. Tavares, and the groomsmen Mr. G. T. Palmer, while the bridesmaids were Miss Pilar da Silva and Miss Elena Souza.

The bride was given away by her father, and looked very charming in a graceful dress of white satin with a very long white satin train and an equally long veil of heavily embroidered white net which was held in place by a Juliet-cap of tiny white roses, and she carried a sheaf of white arum lilies.

She was preceded by the aisle by two small children. The sweetest little girl clad in rose-pink taffeta with a tuted head-dress of the same material, who carried a posy of pink flowers, and a little boy clad in black velvet who bore a silver salver on which were the two wedding rings, one of platinum and one of gold.

The bridesmaids wore dainty dresses of fine muslin sprigged with blue, and sashed with narrow blue velvet to match, they wore corsage sprays of deep blue flowers, and wide hats of transparent organdie with crowns of blue flower petals.

After the wedding a reception was held at St. Theresa Club in Nathan Road after which the happy couple left for their honeymoon which will be spent in Macao.

NORONHA-DIXON

A charming wedding took place at 11.30 on Saturday morning, when Mr. J. M. Noronha was united to Miss Freda Dixon by Rev. Father Rignani and assisted by Rev. Father Rossi at the Rosary Church. Mr. Noronha is Secretary of the Credit Foncier, and Miss Dixon has endeared herself to the congregation of the Rosary Church by her beautiful playing of the organ there.

The bride looked delightful in a princess dress of pure white satin, with a long veil of tulle held by a very beautiful headdress shaped like a coronet.

Miss Noronha, sister of the groom was bridesmaid and wore a dainty dress of white organdie over white satin and a wide lace hat. She wore a plastron of roses at the waist of deep red.

During the nuptial mass a very fine organ-solo was heard, and an exquisite anthem was sung by the choir.

The bride was given away by Mr. T. Murphy, of the Police.

After the ceremony a reception was held at No. 27 Ashley Road, and the happy couple left for their honeymoon which will be spent in Japan.

SIMPSON-ASLETT

The marriage between Miss Eileen Hilda Aslett, daughter of the late Mr. F. Aslett and Mrs. E. Aslett, and Mr. Robert Arthur James Simpson, second son of the late Mr. J. Simpson and Mrs. C. M. Simpson, of The Haven, Brentwood, Essex, took place at St. Theresa's Church on Saturday afternoon, the Rev. Father H. de Angelis conducting the ceremony.

The bride was formerly attached to the teaching staff of St. Mary's School, while the bridegroom is in the Sanitary Department.

The bride looked charming in a gown of white satin and was given away by her uncle, Mr. J. J. Osborne. She was attended by three bridesmaids, Misses D. Gan, Margaret Osborne and Betty Aslett. The bride's mother, Mrs. E. Aslett, was also present at the ceremony. Mr. Brian Clarke was the best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at 13, Stafford Road, Kowloon Tong.

The happy couple will shortly embark on a tour throughout South China for their honeymoon.

ISMAIL-ADAM

A wedding of considerable interest to the local Indian community was solemnised on Saturday, the contracting parties being Mr. S. Farid Ismail, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Ismail and Miss Kadiljah Adam.

The ceremony was performed by Mulvi Noor Sha of The Mosque, Shelley Street, and the function was attended by only a few personal friends of the couple.

A dinner was held in the evening in the residence of the bridegroom's brother, Mr. A. K. Ismail, when some thirty guests attended.

Capt. And Mrs. I.J. Lossius

One of the oldest of the "old-timers" on the China coast celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of his wedding on Saturday.

He is Captain I. J. Lossius, who lives with his wife on Cheung Chau Island, not far from Hong Kong.

Captain Lossius came to Hong Kong in 1895 and was one of the first two captains who opened up the West River to steamer traffic in 1897. He made the trip to Wuchow over 1,000 times.

It was on one of these trips that he was introduced to Prince Henry of Prussia by the then Governor of Hong Kong, Sir Henry Blake.

Mrs. Lossius was for many years proprietress of St. George's House, a private hotel on Kennedy Road, which she closed when her husband and herself retired to Cheung Chau Island.

"SPOOKING THE BABOON"

Farmers' Novel Method To Guard Crops

"Spooking the baboon" is the latest method employed by Bush-vell farmers in the North Water-berg district of the Transvaal to guard their crops and land from being ravaged by these mammals.

At the first demonstration, a baboon which had been captured was sprayed with white paint. When sunset came a tribe of baboons entered the maize fields intent upon damage. The white member of the family was set free and on seeing them, let out a cry and ran towards them.

But the rest of the tribe terror-stricken at this ghost-like apparition, turned and ran for their lives. They were soon out of sight and up to the present have not returned to this particular area.

HE CURES WITH A LOOK

Yogi's Strange Healing
Powers

An 80-year-old yogi named Sardar Khan Singh, who lives near Benares, is said to cure the sick merely by gazing into his patients' eyes.

For seven hours a day he treats hundreds of patients and never charges a fee. It is said that people are visiting him for treatment at the rate of over 3,000 a week.

Cases of fever, head-ache and other minor ailments are stated to be cured by a two-minute look from the old yogi.

For more serious ailments, he has to gaze into his patients' eyes for longer periods. Sometimes a sufferer has to attend for a "gaze" every day for several weeks.

All cures, it is claimed, are permanent.

A yogi is a devotee of yoga, the Hindu system of meditation and ascetic life by which it is attempted to unite the soul of the individual with the universal spirit.

DEFENCE IN THE PACIFIC

It does not look as though the final form of the "two-hemisphere Navy," which Sir Samuel Hoare envisaged in his recent speech in the House of Commons, were to be seriously affected by the decision of the Japanese Government not to limit the guns of capital ships to 14-inch. The decision has still to be officially announced, but it seems improbable that it will be automatically followed by a race for bigger naval armaments.

What counts first with Japan in this and cognate matters is prestige.

It was prestige that caused Japan to scrap the Washington Naval Treaty, although its ratios of tonnage were far, from unfavourable to her, considering her limited naval horizon. It is prestige that now makes her insist, as though the Washington Treaty had been denounced by Britain and the United States, that qualitative limitation is valueless without quantitative limitation.

But prestige is a costly business. Japan cannot afford to start building capital ships of 50,000 tons with 16-inch guns. She has already spent more than she can afford on the North China adventure, and her political parties, behind whom are the business men, have come as near to open revolt as Japanese tradition and the domination of the Army permit. And even if Japan could afford to build these naval monsters, it would still hardly be worth her while.

The predominant argument in favour of the bigger capital ship is that it can operate at long distances from its base, and the need for that does not arise so long as Japan is interested only in the Pacific.

Sir Samuel Hoare told the House of Commons that the present building programme of the British Navy did not contemplate capital ships larger than 35,000 tons and guns bigger than 14-inch. Only if another Power built ships and guns of such proportions would British policy have to be reconsidered. It seems unlikely that Japan will give the impetus to such competition. Japan's reasons for leaving herself free to do something she really does not want to do are largely psychological.

The tonnage and armaments of capital ships are, however, a technical matter. Of much more interest is Sir Samuel Hoare's insistence that the Navy shall be efficient in both hemispheres. But it cannot reach such efficiency unless there is co-operation between Britain and the Dominions. Australia and New Zealand are immediately interested, Canada and India more remotely so, in the watch-

CROYDON AIRPORT MAY BE VACATED

Imperial Airways
Decision

Imperial Airways propose to leave Croydon airport for an aerodrome which is being constructed at Lullingstone, Kent. Other air service firms now using Croydon may follow their example.

The new aerodrome is close to the junction of the Southern Railway's East Kent line and the Sevenoaks branch, and in a district which is less subject to fog than Croydon. The journey to Charing Cross by fast trains takes less than half an hour.

Croydon Airport is becoming more and more unpopular with aircraft operators, as it suffers from two serious disabilities. It is approached from the Continent over difficult country where visibility is frequently bad, and it is inadequately served by rail and road.

Owing to the increase in traffic the time taken to get from Croydon to Victoria has also increased, and there seems to be no prospect of the airport being connected with Central London by an express motor road as was originally proposed.

TOO MANY HOUSES

The aerodrome has been almost surrounded by houses, and consequently there is a shortage of forced landing grounds in the vicinity. The landing area itself is sufficiently large for present requirements, and there is much elaborate and expensive equipment.

It is a Government airport, and large sums of money will be wasted if it becomes obsolete; consequently it is probable that every effort will be made to induce as many operating companies as possible to keep it. In any event, it is likely to be used by many of the air taxi firms for a long time.

Recently the Air Ministry had no statement to make about the future of Croydon, and on inquiry at Imperial Airways it was said that the company might not move all their land plane services from Croydon, and that in any event the move would depend on the facilities offered by Lullingstone when it was finished.

At present, Gatwick is the only airport linked to a railway. A subway connects the aerodrome buildings with the station, and passengers can pass under cover all the way from the aeroplanes to the London trains. A similar plan is in view for Lullingstone.

The chief foreign aircraft operators who use Croydon have not made plans for moving from Croydon.

TEA CULTIVATION IN U.S.S.R.

Plantations Show Great Increase

Considerable attention is being devoted to tea cultivation in the U.S.S.R. Tea plantations have increased from 25,700 hectares five years ago to 38,600 hectares in 1936 and to 45,000 hectares in 1937.

In 1932, the average yield of tea-leaves per hectare constituted 701 kilograms, whereas in 1936 it reached 1,630 kilograms. Many collective farms gathered over 4,000 kilograms per hectare, while Stakhanovite brigades collected 5,000 to 6,000 kilograms per hectare.

In accordance with the plan, the collective farms are to gather this year no less than 1,860 kilograms of tea-leaves per hectare and the State farms, 2,000 kilograms. This will give the Soviet tea factories 24,500 tons of tea-leaves, or fifteen times more than in 1932 and 5,000 tons more than in 1936.

The use of mineral fertilizers is being extended and cultivation methods improved in order to raise the tea harvest.

ing of the Pacific. If the British Navy is to be capable of that task it must be co-ordinated with the existing Dominion naval resources and supplemented by more regular Dominion subsidies.

At present there is an Australian Navy of sorts and a rudimentary Indian Navy, which were a useful enough supplement to a small British fleet so long as the Pacific was governed either by the Anglo-Japanese Treaty or by its successor, the Washington Naval Treaty.

That time is past, and the question of defence in the Pacific demands discussion at the forthcoming Imperial Conference.

If Gossip We Must

(BY PRUDENCE)

I went to a very gay cocktail-party at Peak Mansions the other evening, where my host instantly tore down upon me with a glass of a harmless looking fluid which looked like water, but which turned out to be vodka instead. I am always a bit afraid of strange drinks, so I only just sipped it, and found it very nice, and was laughed at by everyone, and told it forms the base of many cocktails, and that I must have had it lots of times without knowing.

One of the first people I saw was Mrs. David Strellett, looking most charming in a dress of black taffeta with smart little puffed sleeves, and a V. neck, finished with a damask rose. Mrs. Van Wylick was there also in a lovely dress of pale sea-blue satin which suited her fair skin, and golden hair, and Mrs. Hance in a very graceful gown of delicate flowered chiffon.

I saw Miss Newsholme, (wearing a very pretty shade of blue) and heard from her of the recent success of her two ex-pupils Molly Wynne-Jones and June Ralston. Both have won scholarships at the same school. I forgot the name but know it is that big one at Malvern. Bravo the Peak School, where both had all their early training!

A glint of bronze curls under a lamp proved to be Mrs. Gillespie, (who looked in on her way to another party), and not far away I spied Mrs. Bryden in an attractive dress with a cool-looking blouse of dazze-spotted muslin (white and blue). Mrs. V. R. Gordon wore a charming cocktail-dress of dark velvet with transparent sleeves with narrow lines of steel embroidery, and Mrs. Collis had a fascinating frock of black, relieved with white and red.

The Rev. Cyril Brown and his wife were there, receiving congratulations on the success of his Production "The Street Singer," and Mrs. Douglas Valentine dropped in on her way to take part in it. She has made a huge success at the Queen's Theatre in the part of Violette. Mrs. Dovey was there, in a very chaste little dress of sage green with angel sleeves of lace the same colour. Mrs. R. M. Richards looked very smart in navy-blue with a very modern hat with a quaint twist in front, and Mrs. Stuart-Smith was charming in clear blue.

MACHINE TO TEST "BOILED" SHIRTS

Is a woman's hat a true match for her frock? How much dust is there in the air of a coal mine? How good a light have you at your office desk? Why should one steel bar break, and not another?

Instruments which will answer these, and hundreds of other questions of interest to industry and commerce, will be on view at an exhibition, to be opened at Birmingham University, in connection with an industrial physics conference, organised by the Institute of Physics.

Other instruments will test the sweetness of jam, measure the strain set up in glass as it cools, or sort metal caps according to whether they have, or have not, got cork discs inside. Still another machine will tell its owner whether a "boiled" shirt is up to the requisite standard of glossiness.

In a special section of the exhibition, visitors may try their hand at a "pseudoscope"—a distorting instrument which presents to either eye what the other normally sees—and inspect what is described in the catalogue as a "fairy rabbit."

The subject of the conference, to be attended by more than 300 physicists from all parts of the country, will be "Optical Devices in Research and Industry."

Sir Evelyn Wrench And Lady Des Voeux

The engagement is announced between Sir Evelyn Wrench, only surviving son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wrench, of Ballybarr, County Dublin, and Lady Des Voeux, widow of Sir Frederick Des Voeux and only surviving daughter of the late Sir Victor Brooke, of Colebrook, County Fermanagh, Northern Ireland. The wedding will take place quietly at St. Paul's Church, Knightsbridge, on Tuesday, the 18th of May.

Bathers enjoying a spot of lunch at Repulse Bay yesterday when this picture was taken.

Mrs. J. Thomas was looking very pretty in a flowered dress, and told me she and her husband have just exchanged Kowloon for the Peak and like it immensely. Don't mind the fogs a bit!

On the other hand I was talking to Mrs. Lammert (I mean Mrs. Lammert, junior, wife of Alfred Lammert of the Sun Life Assurance Co., of Canada). They have just changed to Humphrey's Building, Kowloon, and they too like it just as much, and think being so near the sea has done wonders for their small son Michael, who has developed rosy cheeks already.

"ON THE TILES"

There was a huge crowd at the Roof Garden of the Hong Kong Hotel on Saturday night to welcome two marvellous and spectacular dancers Sza and Anis who thrilled the audience with their daring performance of dangerous acrobatics. Major Cox had a large party for the occasion, and Mr. Mackenzie, and Mr. J. Lee, Mr. Bruton had a big party too, and Mr. Gilmour another, and the place was packed when the Philharmonic Show ended and all the performers came up to end their successful run by a general farewell on the "Tiles."

One of the first people I noticed was Mrs. Campbell looking simply beautiful in a white dress with long wings of white, floating from the shoulders Miss Pestonji too looked lovely in white with an orchid in her dark hair, and Mrs. Felton was all white, gold, and peach (the white being her dress, the gold her hair and the peach her complexion).

Mrs. Ross was very distinguished in black and silver sequins, and Miss Edith Hersey floated past in an exquisite dress of biscuit colour with a shoulder cape turned back with very pale blue, caught at the throat with a diamond buckle.

Mrs. Geoghan was there in wine red, and Mrs. Bishop in very becoming black, and Mrs. Shannon in autumn-leaf colours, and Mrs. C. W. Richards, very smart with a charming dress of rust-brown linen, cut on graceful lines and with a touch of bright jade green here and there. Mrs. Douglas Valentine came on from her Last Night triumph, at the Queen's, and looked very gay and not the least bit weary, in a charming blue dress which surely must have come from "Madame Violette" while Mrs. Alexander in blue, and Mrs. Branson in graceful oyster satin, and Miss Kent and Miss Boulton and lots of other Street Singer-fies were all dancing gaily with members of the cast.

in time, can evade them by altering height. Bomber pilots during tactical exercises may wish to remain within clouds. Consequently the problem is of more importance in relation to Service machines.

Many American air lines have their aeroplanes equipped with de-icers on the wings and ice-angers on the aircrows; but in Europe ice-forming conditions are not so frequently encountered as they are in America. Nevertheless, several bad crashes which have occurred during the past two or three years have been attributed to ice accretion.

DE-ICER EXPERIMENTS

Meanwhile the Air Ministry's new bomber aircraft specifications require that the machines shall be capable of being fitted with de-icers, and Imperial Airways, on the civil side, is experimenting with de-icers with the object of fitting its aeroplanes with them if a satisfactory type is found.

INSURGENTS CONFIDENT ABOUT BLOCKADE

Can Easily "Bottle-Up" Bilbao

London, April 17. A confident claim is made by the Spanish insurgents of their ability to entirely bottle up the Republicans in Bilbao and to prevent any consignments of food and munitions reaching the besieged from the sea.

The following units of the insurgent fleet, says a communiqué issued in Salamanca, are participating in the blockade of the Basque coast:

Cruisers—Espana, Baleares, Canarias and Almirante Cervera; three auxiliary cruisers; two submarines; one minelayer, twelve hydroplanes.

Meanwhile, Madrid, says a radio agency report from that city, regards with "complete indifference" the control plan which comes into effect on Monday.

The Republican Government considers the control measures will be absolutely ineffective and objects to participation in the scheme of German and Italian warships.

SERIES OF ARRESTS

From Paris comes another report of a series of arrests in Madrid following discovery of an espionage circle.

Among those arrested, says the report, were a lieutenant of militia and a telephone operator at the War Ministry.

A message from Cadiz says that an insurgent salvage steamer has succeeded in raising the Republican submarine sunk by rebel warships last December.

The submarine was towed into Cadiz on Friday and is still seaworthy enough to be added to the rebel navy.

MAJOR ATTLEE SEEKS EXPLANATION

London: Both the Labour and Liberal opposition seem determined to give the Government no peace on the question of the "Surrender" to the insurgent blockade of the Basque coast, and yesterday again saw Ministers being heckled in similar fashion to Thursday's rowdy session.

First speaker for the Opposition was the Labour leader, Major Clement Attlee who asked the Foreign Secretary if he was in a position to make a further statement in view of the fact that the British Consul in Bilbao had reported that the entrance to the port was free from mines and that the Basque coastal batteries were fully able to protect ships in territorial waters.

NOT PERSONAL VIEWS

Mr. Eden, replying, stated that Major Attlee was apparently under a misapprehension, since the British Consul's report did not give that official's own view of the situation but merely transmitted to London information given him by the Basque Government.

The Liberal veteran, Mr. Lloyd George, intervened and asked Mr. Eden whether he had established contact with the Admiral commanding British warships in Spanish waters.

NEW USE FOR GAS

The town of Hamelin, of mythical Pied Piper fame, has been the scene of a series of experiments by German chemists designed to render innocuous the gas used in households for cooking and other purposes.

A new gas has been discovered, says an announcement, which will take a lot of worry from the shoulders of housewives.

It is entirely free from poisonous qualities and can be inhaled in any amount without the slightest injury.

REPUBLICAN SHIPS TO ENGAGE THE INSURGENTS?

London, Apr. 17. "Merely another piece of bluffing," is the description applied by the Gibraltar correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" to reports that the Spanish Republican fleet, was steaming to the Bay of Biscay to engage the insurgent navy.

"Nothing has been seen of the loyalist ships," the correspondent continues, "and it is most unlikely that they will take such a venture some step since they have neither bases nor harbours on the Atlantic coast."

In the meantime, insurgent headquarters in Salamanca state that Republican attacks on the Aragon front have been repulsed.

"Has the Admiral," he demanded, "stated whether the actual situation on the Basque coast is as stated by the Basque Government?"

Mr. Eden answered that the British Government had no other information than the report of the British Consul, and pointed out that it was extremely difficult to obtain authentic information from other sources in the Basque region.

ON HIGH SEAS

Mr. Eden, R.T.E. Fletcher then asked the Foreign Secretary what steps the British Government were taking to advise British merchant ships that ships sailing from Spanish ports could count on the full protection of the British fleet.

Mr. Eden, "British merchant ships have been informed by public announcement of the Government's intention to afford protection to British ships on the high seas."

Publication of communiques in various centres previously had been necessary owing to the difficulty in maintaining telephonic communications between the capital and the other fronts.

Now complete communication has been restored through Republican Spain.

A communiqué issued to-day says that only minor skirmishes have been reported from the various fronts.

Loyalists are now reported to be in possession of Gordo Hill and several small towns in the vicinity.

A rebel plane was shot down by the loyalists during this action.

On the Basque front, the Republicans repulsed several insurgent attacks on the town of Alava.

AGREEMENT REACHED

The Catalan Leftist Party holds three portfolios in the reconstituted Government, the Socialist-Labour federation four, and the anarchist-labour federation four.

ANGLO-ITALIAN RELATIONS

Remarkable Change

Rome, April 17. A remarkable change has suddenly taken place in Anglo-Italian relations, political circles in Rome declaring them to be "extremely friendly," although up to a few days ago a high degree of tension existed between the two countries.

This amazing reversal is declared to be due principally to the fact that Italy recognises in the British attitude towards the blockade of Bilbao by the Spanish insurgents an earnest endeavour to remain impartial.

Britain, on the other hand, has been highly gratified by the conciliatory spirit displayed by Italy in the non-intervention committee this week, including her readiness to discuss the withdrawal of non-Spanish participants in the civil war.

Francisco-Italian relations however show no sign of improvement, and the Italian press continues its vigorous campaign against the Blum Government.

ABSOLUTE CONTROL

It is asserted that M. Blum and his Government are "under the absolute control of the Communists," and that the French newspapers are adopting an extremely unfavourable attitude to the London non-intervention committee, whose policy would "probably lead to a compromise with General Franco if it were not for a French check to any possible move in this direction."

The more Radical Italian papers even go so far as to declare that the French Foreign Minister, M. Yves Delbos, is making an obvious attempt, "with the help of various influential foreign groups, including the Vatican," to prepare the way for a completely new Spanish Government patterned after the French Popular Front Government.

This would be more in keeping with French interests, the journals say, than a military dictatorship more inclined to lend a friendly ear to English proposals.

A report in the Paris "Information" that General Franco is planning to resign his position, as leader of the insurgent army and devote his attention to political tasks, is declared in Rome to have been inspired "by French hopes rather than by facts."

This concrete development is the result of several months' deliberations and is hailed as an encouraging sign by exponents of the new international economic order, particularly in view of the significant series of meetings that are imminent.

Premier Van Zeeland's trip to Washington is being linked with the visits here of Dr. Schacht, Mr. Norman Davis and Mr. Anthony Eden, the last named being due next week-end.

BRITISH SHIPPING IN SPAIN

Bayonne, April 17.

What is the secret behind the return of the British steamer, Mary Llewellyne, to St. Jean de Luz after setting out on a blockade-running expedition to Bilbao?

Mystery surrounds her abandonment of the project and there is a suspicion of British official intervention. One version of her return has it that the Mary Llewellyne met with bad weather and, as she was not equipped with wireless, was compelled to run before the gale.

CAPTAIN RETICENT

Another report, however, states that the vessel met a British destroyer which told her what attitude the British Government would take in her adventure should she encounter difficulties at the hands of the insurgents.

The captain of the Mary Llewellyne will give no indication of what exactly happened.

The problem of food supplies in view of General Franco's blockade of the Basque coast, is becoming acute in Bilbao and other ports in the hands of the Spanish loyalists.

The Minister of Agriculture in the Basque Government is holding a meeting with members of the Valencia Government to discuss the situation.

None of the British ships loaded with food, now tied up in St. Jean de Luz harbour, is likely to try and run the rebel blockade.—Reuter.

Premier Van Zeeland To Visit U.S.

Brussels, Apr. 17.

The Premier, M. Paul van Zeeland, is to pay an official visit to the United States in June, says an official announcement.

This is regarded here as another step in the Premier's economic investigations, requested by Britain and France, and considerable importance is attached to the visit.

In Paris, the "Temps" learns that the Belgian Premier will discuss the possibilities of world economic revival with President Roosevelt.

He will also receive an honorary degree from Princeton University.—Transocean News Service.

RUMOURS CONFIRMED

Washington: Confirmation of the visit of M. van Zeeland to Washington in July is forthcoming in official circles here, which state that the Belgian Premier will presumably discuss the question of lowering tariff barriers.

He will interview President Roosevelt and the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, on the matter, though the official version of the visit is that he is coming to the United States to receive an honorary degree from Princeton University.

Mr. Cordell Hull to-day stated that he will deliver his "usual speech on the lowering of tariffs if M. van Zeeland cares to listen."

REDUCTION OF TARIFFS

Brussels: M. van Zeeland's investigation of the possibilities of a general reduction of tariffs, undertaken at the request of Britain and France, is already in full progress, according to an announcement here to-day.

The Premier has commissioned the former Councillor to the Austrian National Bank, Mr. Morris, to investigate preparatory work.

Mr. Morris has already conferred in London with the economic adviser to the British Government, Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, and representatives of the Foreign Office and Exchequer.

Next Monday Mr. Morris will visit Paris, after which his investigations will take him to various other countries.—Transocean News Service.

BILBAO BLOCKADE NOT EFFECTIVE

London, April 17.

Two private notice questions on the situation on the Basque coast were answered in the Commons by the Foreign Secretary.

He read a telegram from the British Consul at Bilbao as follows.

"The President of the Basque Government urgently requests you should be informed food situation critical, that harbour entrance is clear of mines, that shore batteries can effectively protect merchant shipping in territorial waters and that blockade is not effective. Since April 1st twentyseven vessels entered into and thirtytwo cleared from Bilbao."

It would be clear Mr. Eden said that the Consul was passing on a message from the Basque Government and not impressing his own views as the Leader of the Opposition had appeared to suggest in his question.

Mr. Lloyd George, intervened, wanting to know if the Government had taken steps to ascertain whether or not the Basque Government's statement was correct.

GOVERNMENT POSITION

Mr. Eden replied that naturally the Government would do all it could to secure full information and, in answer to another member, explained that no one had even said that no ship could get in or out of Bilbao.

The other private notice question referred to the reported departure of the British merchant ship, Mary Llewellyn, from Saint Jean de Luz and enquired about protection for British ships which disregarded the Government's advice not to proceed to Basque ports.

Mr. Eden recalled the explicit statement he had made in the debate on Wednesday that while the Government hoped ships would not disobey instructions, if they did, and were on the high seas, they would be entitled to protection.—British Wireless.

WOMEN OBSERVERS IN SPAIN

Valencia, April 17.

A delegation of British women Members of Parliament, headed by the Conservative Duchess of Atholl and the Socialist, Miss Ellen Wilkinson, was received by the Spanish Premier, Senor Largo Caballero, here yesterday.

The delegation is visiting Spain in order to examine the situation with regard to the founding of a relief organisation for wounded soldiers, and the civil population.

Senor Caballero, says a communiqué issued after the interview, told the delegation that Spain, at the conclusion of the civil war, would decide what form of government she wanted.

The new Spanish State would be a democracy with a parliament, while religious freedom would be completely restored.

The British women delegates were guests at luncheon yesterday of the Spanish Parliament. Among others attending were the Foreign Minister, Senor Alvarez del Vayo, and the British charge d'affaires. The delegation later left for Madrid.—Transocean News Service.

ROYAL ROMANCE SHATTERED

Dutch Queen Gives Ultimatum

Milan, April 17.

A serious hitch has suddenly developed in the romantic attachment of the Javanese Sultan of Djokjakarta for the beautiful 19-year-old daughter of a Greek ship-owner, Miss Nadya Vlassov.

Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands, who is the Sultan's sovereign, has stepped in with an ultimatum to the Royal would-be bridegroom.

She has told him that if he marries a European girl he must forfeit his throne.

Rumour has it that the Sultan, who is reputed to already be in possession of a considerable harem in the Netherlands East Indies, chose the throne.

THREAT TO ABDICATE

During the week, it was stated that although Queen Wilhelmina at first objected to the proposed marriage she later withdrew her opposition following the Sultan's threat to abdicate.

It was reported that the young couple, whose romance developed during the winter sports at St. Moritz, had planned to get married in Milan and honeymoon on Lake Maggiore.

Now the dream has been shattered and the Sultan will return to his native land still "single".—Transocean News Service.

CLYDESDIDE STRIKE MAY GO ON

London, April 17.

The Clydeside strike has entered its fourth week with the possibility of graver developments when it was decided that there will be a ballot of the strikers on the disputed issue before a return to work and if it resulted in a majority for the continuation of the stoppage, it will be officially recognised.

This decision followed a meeting in London between the delegation from the Glasgow district committee and the executive of the Amalgamated Engineering Union.—Reuter.

AN INDEPENDENT AUSTRIA

Most Important Problem Of To-day

Vienna, April 17.

"The important problem to-day is not the form of government in Austria but the maintenance of an independent Austria," declared the Federal Chancellor, Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, in the course of a speech yesterday.

The speech had its repercussions in comment in the newspapers to-day, the semi-official press pointing out that the Chancellor's statement, which signified that the question of a Hapsburg restoration in Austria was not regarded by him as an acute problem, was a hint that Austria was planning negotiations with other Danubian countries.

The nationalist organ makes the speech a pretext for a violent attack on the Austrian monarchists.

HAPSBURG RESTORATION
The journal says that the monarchists' frequent references to an impending Hapsburg restoration are threatening to disturb the political atmosphere.

"This is demagogic of the most unfortunate kind," the paper asserts.

Austria, the article continues, should not be allowed to be made the object of experiments by irresponsible politicians.

"The chief problem to-day is rather to make Austria a peaceful German Commonwealth," concludes the paper.—Reuter.

LOCAL FOOTBALL

POLICE DESERVE WIN OVER ATHLETIC

Scoreless First Half

(BY ROY MURRAY)

Yesterday's Senior League encounter between Police and Athletic at Caroline Hill excited little or no interest, that end-of-the-season staleness being very much in evidence amongst the players. The ultimate result was of no material advantage to either side, Taylor's opportunism paving the way to a Police victory of 3 goals to 1.

Although Athletic enjoyed the major part of attack, their inside forwards proved feeble marksmen. They hemmed Police in their own territory at the off-set, and perfect crosses from Long Kwon Lum went begging. Britton and Bone proved a stalwart obstacle in defence for Police, whose forwards also lacked penetrating power. A word of praise is due to Wong Sik Ping whose spectacular clearances were one of the features of a lackadaisical first half. The fact that neither goalkeeper was seriously tested in the opening period speaks well for both defences and emphasises the lack of sharpshooting forwards on either side.

Ng Tak Wing netted for Athletic in the second half but the point was disallowed for an alleged handball. On resuming Tom Kwon Kon drove the ball against Willerton, which rebounded into the empty net. Five minutes later Taylor repeated this performance with a ground shot which left Tom Kwon Kon helpless. This two goal lead acted as a tonic to Police who pressed continuously. Athletic replied with a goal per Chin Chi Fun. Taylor eventually scored again for Police who fully deserved their victory, which was directly due to the opportunism of Taylor to utilise his few opportunities.

ULSTERS WIN

The Royal Ulster Rifles almost made sure of the First Division Football Championship when they defeated a strong Eastern team at Causeway Bay on Saturday afternoon by five goals to one. The Rifles only need one more point to win the championship and they have yet to meet South China "B" and the Chinese Athletic while the Champions meet the Senarth Highlanders on Saturday and then St. Joseph's.

Although having put up a gallant fight in the first half Eastern tired very quickly after the interval and before 20 minutes had elapsed they had completely lost their morale. There was no sting in the Chinese attack, while the inside men were slow in seizing chances, whereas the wing men were a thorn in the Rifles' defence as a result of their terrific shooting power. Ho Ching-to reminded one of Lee Wal Tong's best efforts during the first half with hard drives into the goal, only to be saved by Conner in magnificent style. The chief trouble on the Eastern team lay in the half back line where Cheung Kwok-chai failed to hold the line together with any success. Moore played the best game he has ever played to score three goals for the victors, he was faster on the ball than the opposing center half, and displayed a thorough understanding with Erwin's particular style of putting the ball high in the centre. The Rifles attack was on its toes except for Doherty who was rather lethargic at inside left. Ferguson displayed some clever work but was eclipsed by the brilliant display of Erwin on the right wing. Galbraith filled the position of centre half which was vacated by Campbell when he left the Colony last Friday, which was no enviable task when it is known that Campbell was considered the best centre half in the Colony.

The Rifles first goal came as a result of a mistake by Lal Ting-chol who in trying to dispose Moore of the ball kicked it into an empty net. Two minutes later this goal was nullified when Conner failed to hold a hard drive from Ho Ching-to for Chan Ping-to to rush in and score. A few minutes later Moore put the Rifles further ahead. Ten minutes before the conclusion of the match the Rifles played magnificent football to score three further goals through Moore (2), and Doherty.

SOUTH CHINA "A" BOW TO KOWLOON

South China "A" suffered a decline for Senior League Championship on Saturday at the hands of Kowloon F.C. when they conceded both points to the latter team by a single goal netted by Bowen in this second half. The match was of a very mediocre standard. There were several changes in the South China team. Notable absentees were Lee Wal Tong, Fung King Cheong, Lee Tin Sang and Tam Kong Pak, and as a result of reorganisation the forwards crowded their work and their passes were over-elaborate and good shooting was conspicuous for its absence. Ho Ka Keung was presented with opportunities to shoot but fared poorly, while the Chinese defence with the exception of Pau Ka Ping, was little better and their work to counter a strong attack by Kowloon being only matched by the inability of Betts and his followers to convert opportunities that should produce two or three further goals. Credit for the Kowloon victory must be given to the intermediate line and the defence, as their forwards with the exception of White and G. Knox presented a poor spectacle. Willis who deputised for D. Knox on the left wing was very weak. Blake appeared in all sorts of odd places, but succeeded in putting three shots well wide of their mark. White sent several passes to his leader but only for him to lose them unless they were within a foot or two of him, while Knox met his rival in Tse Kam Hang who was one of the few on his side who showed anything like championship football. There was nothing to choose between Everest and Bowen, the latter crowning a fine performance when he netted a goal from what appeared obviously a pre-arranged plan between he and Bliss. Jeffrey, formerly of the C.B.S., gave a very creditable performance.

CLUB DEFEATED

The Club were defeated by St. Joseph's by a solitary goal which was scored by G. White (centre-forward) after 15 minutes of play had elapsed. E. Strange, of the Club was conspicuous for his tackling and spilling, but marred a splendid performance with faulty passing to his forwards. Forrow tried hard to brighten up his forwards but his shooting was well covered by Tsang. Of the St. Joseph's team, Castilho and Fernandez played well and clever football was displayed by Hagen. G. White was very closely watched while Ward suffered from poor passing.

DOCKYARD R.C. LOSE

NOMADS DEFEATED

After sharing two goals in the first half, the Nomads were narrowly defeated by Headquarter Wing, Kuman Rifles, by three goals to two in a hockey match played yesterday on the Marina ground. The match was fast and exciting.

Partab, the brilliant Interport left-wing, playing at inside-left, gave a faultless display, while R. J. Reed, at centre-half for the Nomads was also prominent for his fine interception and feeding. The goal scorers were: Kuman Rifles, Partab (2) and Chulab Singh; Nomads, G. Soares and J. H. Franco.

CHINESE R.C.

Annual Meeting Yesterday

The annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Chinese Recreation Club took place yesterday afternoon in the Club house. Mr. Ng Sze-kwong presided in the absence of the Chairman (Mr. H. S. Mok) who is away in Canton.

The minutes of the last annual general meeting were read by the Hon. Secretary, Mr. Yu Tak-lam, and were unanimously passed.

The Hon. Treasurer put forward the statement of accounts for the past year 1936 which was also passed.

A general discussion was made on a certain body's proposal to make an elaborate scheme to provide for night-courts, covered courts, a swimming pool and a magnificent clubhouse. But on account of the uncertainty of the period of possession of the ground being given to the Club and the members' objection to have the Club "sold out," there seemed to be no security to be given to the capital raised by these individuals, and it appeared that the existence of this scheme would be very remote.

A proposal which was put forward to allow ladies to be admitted as members of the Club was postponed till 1938 when the adjacent ground—now occupied by the Hong Kong Jockey Club—will be added to the Club, and be turned into tennis courts.

The election of a new Committee followed after which the meeting was closed.

Pimples, spots, blackheads, enlarged pores, burning irri-defects are woman's most common "aging" enemies. To all who suffer, Cuticura presents

Cuticura Ointment direct on the affected part before washing with the soap. Its antiseptic action kills germs, soothes and

INTERNATIONAL FOOTBALL

Scotland Beat England At Hampden Park

CROWD OF 150,000 WITNESS SPLENDID MATCH

Glasgow, April 17.
Approximately 150,000 people saw the first all-ticket admission international game in the history of soccer here to-day. The pitch was in splendid condition despite two days of rain which was still falling very heavily but which failed to dampen the spirit of the crowd, 40,000 of whom were supporters of the English team.

It was a most animated scene, with community singing before the commencement, the teams playing as announced. England won the toss and had the advantage of playing with a strong wind and the game started immediately after the National Anthem was sung.

The English attack was very lively and stormed the Scottish goal in the early stages but the greatness of the occasion was responsible for the weak finishing.

movement by Delaney and Walker was crowned by a splendid goal by O'Donnell who put the ball into the corner of the goal. It appeared to be a very easy shot and the Scottish supporters went mad with delight.

The Scots then maintained a steady pressure and the English custodian, Woodley, saved brilliantly when Walker sent in a pile-driver. The Scots now revealed their traditional wizardry and with their clever combination and long sweeping passes made rings round the English defence.

Woodley, who was making his debut in the international series, was in splendid form and weathered a gruelling ten-minute drive which time he had to deal with shots from all angles. Male cleared one of Duncan's shots from the line but the English attack
now appeared cumbersome in comparison with the snappy type of football played by their opponents and hesitancy on the part of their forwards lost them many chances.
Walker was brilliant and led Bray and Barkas to a rare dance, and ten minutes from the final whistle
McPhail scored with a left-footed drive which gave Woodley no chance whatever, the ball never rising more than a few inches from the ground. The irrepressible Walker then hit the upright with a hot drive from a difficult angle and from the rebound capped a great afternoon's work by giving McPhail, who was very well placed, the opportunity of scoring the third goal for Scotland with a clever header.

TEAMS:

Scotland: — Dawson; Anderson and Beattie. (Preston); Massie
(Aston Villa); Simpson and Brown;
Delaney, Walker, Frank O'Donnell
(Preston), McPhail and Duncan.
England: — Woodley (Chelsea),
Male, Barkas, Britton, Young, Bray, Matthews (Stoke), Carter (Sunderland), Steele (Stoke), Starling (Aston Villa) and Johnson (Stoke).

DECISION REVERSED

The visitors retaliated and Steele narrowly missed scoring with a header. Scotland came back to the attack again and Simpson placed a free-kick in the English goalmouth where Delaney's header beat Woodley only to see Barkas clearing almost from the goal-line.
O'Donnell scored but the referee,
after pointing to the centre, reversed his decision when he saw one of the linesmen waving his flag frantically. From a free kick, five minutes before the interval,
Steele found the net from Start-ling's pass, and encouraged by this success, the English forwards kept up a continue pressure but the Scots' defence held out and halftime came with the visitors leading by the only goal scored in 45 minutes, though Simpson almost deflected the ball into his own goal to give England a 2-0 lead.

THE SECOND HALF

After the interval, Scotland settled down grimly and a brilliant

FARR AFTER BRADDOCK

Will Leave For America Soon

Berlin, April 17.
The Manager of Tommy Farr, the British and Empire heavyweight champion, who has just beaten the American Max Baer, is making plans for a world title fight in England between James J.
Braddock, the present World
Champion, and Farr.

So declares the London correspondent of the "12 Uhr Blatt," the Berlin sports paper.

The correspondent adds, however, that Farr has already decided to go to the United States, and will probably leave before the end of this month.

The same paper publishes a statement made by Braddock to the effect that he will defend his title against Joe Louis, the Detroit negro, on June 22 at Comiskey Park, and that he will ignore all other offers.

AIR RACE CALLED OFF

Paris, April 16.
The plan of the Paris-New York
air race in commemoration of Col.
Lindbergh's famous flight, in August, instigated by the French Air Minister, M. Pierre Cot, has been abandoned. American air circles object to the race and claim that an eventual accident would discourage efforts now under way for regular trans-atlantic air services. The French air minister thereupon dropped the project.

PRESIDENT LIN SEN RETURNS

Good Impression Of Kwangsi

Nanking, Apr. 17.

President Lin Sen arrived here to-day by the Junkboat Wing Shui, and was warmly welcomed by the leading civil and military officials of the Central Government. After disembarking and inspecting the Guard of Honour he immediately proceeded to his private residence for a rest.

It is reported that President Lin Sen will preside at the commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the removal of the Capital to Nanking to-morrow.

According to the President, Gen. Li Tsung-jen and Pei Chung-hsi, Commander and Vice-Commander-in-Chief of the Fifth Route Army, will proceed to Nanking short-ly.

President Lin Sen greatly praised the patriotism of the people, and the advancement in the reconstruction works of Kwangsi Province.

RICE TAX QUESTION

Kwangtung Relief Measures

Ever since General Wu Teh-chen's assumption of his duties as Governor of Kwangtung Province, the rice tax question has been engaging his closest attention.

It is reported that as the result of a meeting between General Wu Teh-chen, General Yu Han-mow, Pacification Commissioner of Kwangtung Province, and Commander-in-Chief of the Fourth Army and Mr. Ching Tin-koo, Vice-Minister of Industries in Nanking, a satisfactory solution has been arrived at, and that the decision will be telegraphed to the Nanking Central Government for consideration and approval.

Owing to the loss and distress occasioned by the prolonged delay, it is expected that the decision of the Government will be immediately announced.

"Another report from official sources states that the Finance Ministry in Nanking is paying attention to the temporary relief measures, which would be centred on the importation of foreign rice and the transport of more native rice from other provinces to Kwangtung."

Celluloid Bullets For Riots

Paris, April 17.
The Paris police are determined to be up to date in dealing with street riots.

They have just purchased four tanks. These tanks, about the size of a Paris bus and with a speed of 25 miles an hour, are armed with a battery of machine-guns, each of which can fire 1000 celluloid missiles a minute.

Although harmless, the "bullets" are extremely effective in dispersing mobs.

The tanks will also contain apparatus for spraying a mixture of sand and tear gas, as well as equipment for discharging a smoke-screen.

like to amplify that the "Peninsula Hotel" would not have been fully occupied if it had not been for the closing of the old Peak Hotel.

It is only at the annual meeting that a member is afforded an opportunity of learning of the position of the Company's affairs and the privilege of expressing his opinion. "Being a minority shareholder of the 'submerged tenth' I am reconciled to the fact that the prospects of getting an impartial hearing are remote. He is debarred by the Articles of Association from interfering in the management though recognised as a full-blown partner and a registered shareholder, but he is nevertheless restrained from making constructive comment.

When I attended the meeting I was in the unhappily handicapped position of not having been furnished with an insight of the Chairman's contemplated speech, therefore, I had to be content to rely on my auditory and retentive faculties. For the Company to arrive at a dividend paying stage most drastic cuts in share capital and retrenchment in all department have been necessary. I, therefore, cannot see what common sense or justification there is in suggesting running into debt by recreating and fostering a huge overdraft with our Bankers on a venture that might never be profitable. At any rate I am conscious of the fact that the gentleman who occupied the Chair, although young in years, has had a very wide experience and sound training, and I am satisfied with his candid assurance that nothing will be undertaken with the suggested proposition without very careful consideration.

Yours faithfully,
FRED H. KEW.

Australia And Mandated Territories

London, April 17.
The mandated territories should be opened completely for world trade and Australia should set an example by throwing open the mandated territories assigned to her.

This is part of a memorandum addressed to the Australian Prime Minister, Mr. J. A. Lyons, who is now in London for the Coronation, by a number of Australian politicians and economists.

The proposal says the memorandum, should be submitted by Mr. Lyons to the Imperial Conference which is to be held after the Coronation.

The memorandum adds that exploitation of the economic possibilities of the territories should only be granted after certain concessions had been made in the field of disarmament.

The Bar Association throughout China and the Press Association of Hankow are among the latest organisations to petition Nanking to take steps in the matter.
